

On this day in 1783, the Treaty of Paris was signed. This treaty marked the official end to the Revolutionary War and America's Independence. After learning a little about this time period, why do you think this was such an important point in our country's history?